Details of National and International Webinars organized by the college during the year: 2020-21

1. ROLE OF TEACHERS AND THE ADMINISTRATORS IN DEMOCRACY:

The webinar on Role of Teachers and The Administrators In Democracy was organised by Department of Education, Bhawanipur Anchalik College, Bhawanipur in Collaboration with G.L.C College, Barpeta Road on 02/08/2020 from 10 A.M. Onwards. The webinar was arranged in Zoom platform. The Principal of the college Dr. Mukunda Sarma delivered the welcome address. The keynote address was given by Mr Dharanidhar Talukdar, president of the Governing Body of the college. Prof. Pratap Jyoti Handique, honourable Vice-Chancellor, Gauhati University was also present in the webinar and delivered the inaugural address. The other resource persons were Dr. Ramendra Kumar Parhi, HoD, Department of Education, Central University Odisha and Mr. Kishor Kumar, Education Officer, UGC, New Delhi.

The resource persons elaborately explained the role of teachers and administrators in the democracy. They opined that democracy without proper education of the citizens cannot become successful. The Platonic theory enlightens that for the success of democracy there is the need of good people with good ideals in political exercises. Teachers are one of the most important segments whose proper roles can facilitate the democratic process towards the point of excellence. Such excellence depends on the welfare of the citizens. Welfare of the citizens becomes the focal interest in real democracy and for this there is the need of education of each of the citizens. Teachers work as the watchdog of democracy. The future of a society depends on the roles of the teachers. Therefore, in community, teachers are given very high esteem in the developed countries of the world. In brief, the community of teacher plays the under mentioned roles for individual welfare and social progress in democracy:

Make the process of social change very dynamic. For this they spread education among the masses.

- Make the spirit of national unity and integration very strong in students.
- Teach the students about the significance of the spirit of international understanding, integration and brotherhood as well.
- Act as leaders in various social situations.
- Offer help to check the menace of superstition.
- Keep close contact with the guardians.
- Make the school-community relation very close.
- Help the students to know the socio-cultural history of society.
- Make the students become ready to help the community in crisis period.

The roles and responsibilities of the teachers for the development of the capabilities of the pupils for the welfare of individual life and progress of society in democratic social order are not easily definable. Teachers help the pupils identify the capabilities and find out ways for the growth of personalities accordingly.

Education as a social process helps men and women to develop all the capabilities and skills necessary for taking part in economic processes for survival. It helps men and women to become the resources of the society. Education makes men and women fit to take part in the process of production as per the demand of life situations. Education develops the vocational capabilities and skills and makes men and women ready to take active part in the process of production of goods and services. The administrators help everybody understand the value and way of offering services as per the demand of time and life situations for the production of goods with the help of services. They help people understand how in the form of services we can help individual life change and society transform.

Education helps to develop the potentialities and skills of the human beings and economics helps to use the potentialities and skills in the productive purposes. Thus, for economic prosperity education helps to develop the potentialities and economics helps to use those in a systematic way. The investment made in the sector of education has very long term benefit. Education helps to know and understand the problems of life and society. It helps us to know the causes and ways and means of remedies of different social problems like unemployment, poverty, illiteracy, social injustice etc. Economics helps to take practical measures for the solutions of the problems. Administrators basically play the role of mediator for the proper function of the system and thereby influence every step of life of the learners.

The webinar

The deadly and infectious disease Corona Virus also known as COVID-19 has adversely affected the socio, economic and academic life of the people living all-around the globe. This tragedy has shaken up the education sector so much that nobody can tell for certain when we shall get back to normal teaching again. The Covid-19 pandemic forced schools and colleges to remain closed and there is a fear of losing this whole ongoing semester or even more in the coming future. As social distancing is preeminent at this stage, this will have negative effects on teaching and learning opportunities. Educational Units are struggling to find options to deal with this challenging situation. These circumstances make us realize that scenario planning is an urgent need for academic institutions. There is an urgent need to protect and save over students, faculty, academic staff, communities, societies, and the nation as a whole.

As we all know, the major part of the world is on quarantine due to this serious outbreak of this pandemic Covid-19 and therefore many areas have turned into phantom areas and its effects can be seen in schools, colleges and universities too. Betwixt all this, Online teaching and Online learning can be termed as the panacea for the crisis. The Corona Virus has made institutions to go from offline mode to Online mode of pedagogy. This crisis make the institutions, which were earlier reluctant to change to accept modern technology. Online teaching and learning is emerging as a victor ludorum amidst this chaos. Therefore, the quality enhancement of Online teaching-learning is crucial at this stage. There was an overnight shift of normal classrooms into e-classrooms, that is, educators have shifted their entire pedagogical approach to tackle new situational demands. During this tough time, the concern is not about whether Online teaching-learning methods can provide quality education, it is rather how the faculties will be able to adopt Online teaching in such a massive manner.

The main hindrance is the Digital Divide due to the non-availability of high speed internet in rural and remote areas. The inclusive educational system cannot function keeping the underprivileged out of this exercise. The second issue is the financial backwardness of the students. A large section of the society still cannot afford to buy quality smart phone or laptop which is a necessity for the online educational system. Moreover there is a section of the society which hesitates to upgrade themselves to digital platforms. Online education will be successful only if it reaches every student. For this, the aforesaid issues to be tackled. The internet infrastructure in the country needs to be leapfrogged first.

Since the outbreak of the Covid-19 pandemic in March 2020, English language teachers have had what might be described as a difficult relationship with technology. Initial teacher education has been slow to embrace digital ways of teaching and learning, meaning that many teachers feel that they have been poorly prepared to use technology in their teaching. Understandably, there are a number of worries which teachers have regarding introducing technology into teaching. The most common are- technology is isolating the learner's interaction, and dissimilar to the kind of ways that they will be required to use language in the real world. Moreover, teachers are being deskilled, and the essence of teaching is being lost. The rise of technology, particularly Artificial Intelligence will soon mean that teachers are made redundant. Teaching is a complex job, requiring a wide range of skill such as subject knowledge, classroom management, motivational skills, delivering feedback, differentiating learning, problem solving emotional intelligence, counselling and most importantly at this moment knowledge of technology. Therefore, a clear and immediate necessity for professional development in English language & literature teaching through technology for many teachers around the world.

In this webinar, a sincere effort is to be made to delve deep in to the problems and prospectus of teaching English literature and language online in this crucial time of Covid- 19 pandemic and this effort will definitely go a long way in exploring many new vistas in this subject which will help the English teachers all around the globe to give a boost to their professional skill and there by making teaching and learning quite illuminating, refreshing and effective.

The objectives of the webinar are:

To upgrade the professional development of the educators.

To facilitate flexible way to gain knowledge

To reinforce of content and skills amongst the participants

To encourage the educators by offering a variety of opportunity for asynchronous and synchronous learning
